Welcome to Portsmouth – the great waterfront city

Portsmouth, the UK's only island city, is the perfect location for your next short break or day trip. If you are a regular visitor and already a fan of the city – welcome back! If you haven't visited for a while we really recommend you add Portsmouth to your plans in 2025.

Portsmouth has something for everyone – from world-class attractions, amazing events, fabulous shopping and great evening entertainment to an array of great places to stay, eat and drink.

The iconic Spinnaker Tower is the perfect place to start your visit. Take in the amazing views then head down to earth for the fabulous outlet shopping available at Gunwharf Quays – grab yourself a designer bargain then relax with a bite to eat overlooking the harbour.

Walk along the waterfront into Old Portsmouth, visiting Aspex art gallery en route. Discover centuries of history along the Millennium Trail by following the chain motif on the pavement. On your way, explore the cobbled streets and harbour fortifications (home to the Hotwalls Studios) and walk up the historic High Street to Portsmouth Cathedral.

Visit Portsmouth Historic Dockyard where you can view over 500 years of maritime history, including HMS Victory, Mary Rose, HMS Warrior, the National Museum of the Royal Navy and much more.

In Southsea discover The D-Day Story, where your visit begins aboard the immense landing craft LCT 7074.

Explore more Tudor history at Southsea Castle and enjoy amazing views across to the Isle of Wight.

As an island city, Portsmouth has miles of waterfront and beaches to explore, along with large open spaces and easy access to countryside walks.

After dinner you can choose music, theatre, comedy or drama at one of the city's variety of venues offering year-round entertainment.

A full calendar of events

Across the year the city's literary connections will be celebrated, with the local arts and culture collective Portsmouth Creates designating 2025 as its 'Year of Literature and Literacy'.

In June, Portsmouth is proud to be the home of the national UK Pride event and July will once again see the International Kite Festival return to the city.

Portsmouth will host two large sailing events this year, Sail GP in July and The Ocean Race in August. The award-winning Victorious Festival returns on the August Bank Holiday weekend, followed by The Great South Run in October.

These are just a few highlights for the year, check out the full listings on visitportsmouth.co.uk before your visit.

Head to the official Visit Portsmouth website for further information on all the attractions and accommodation listed in this guide, as well as the most up-to-date event listings.

PORTSMOUTH HISTORIC DOCKYARD

SPINNAKER TOWER

The iconic Spinnaker Tower stands at a soaring 170 metres tall, offering awe-inspiring 23-mile views over Portsmouth, the Solent, the South Downs and the Isle of Wight.

The experience starts in the high-speed lift and in 30 seconds you step onto the viewing decks where Portsmouth, 'the great waterfront city' is showcased in all its glory.

These are unmissable sights, seen from a 350-degree panorama, and each with its own story. Discover the rich history behind the view with informative touch screen displays and take in the sea air from the open 'Sky Garden'.

For those brave enough, there's a thrilling 'Sky Walk' 100 metres above sea level or the opportunity to abseil down the Tower!

Right on the waterfront, The Spinnaker Kitchen & Bar is a relaxing spot to enjoy a drink or bite to eat made with delicious, locally sourced ingredients. For a real 'high' tea, head to the Clouds Café for a traditional afternoon tea or brunch with a glass of bubbly.

From 7.30pm the Clouds turns into Sky Bar – the perfect setting to drink in the view. Enjoy sunset, evening and night views while sipping a classic cocktail or the signature 'Spinnaker Tower'.

A spectacular venue for events or your own special occasion, the Tower is available for private hire, corporate functions and weddings.

THE D-DAY STORY
PORTSMOUTH

It makes

Visit the only UK museum dedicated to the momentous events of 6 June 1944. Step onboard LCT 7074, explore the museum's collection and marvel at the Overlord Embroidery. theddaystory.com

THE D-DAY STORY

The D-Day Story is an essential part of any visit to Portsmouth. The Normandy landings remain the largest seaborne invasion ever seen, which marked the beginning of the end of the Second World War, and The D-Day Story is the only UK museum dedicated to the telling of this significant moment in history.

With the museum divided into three distinct parts, your visit begins on Landing Craft Tank 7074, the last surviving preserved LCT, which crossed the Channel during June 1944. Step onboard and discover its fascinating history from construction and its role during the Normandy campaign carrying up to ten tanks across the Channel, through to its post-war role as a floating nightclub! Sound effects, recreated crew quarters and Sherman and Churchill tanks bring the experience to life.

Inside the museum, discover how D-Day was planned and how those in charge took the critical decisions to make the operation a success. Audio visual displays and interactives put you in the shoes of those involved, whilst vehicles and objects provide a compelling insight into the personal stories of the individuals who were there.

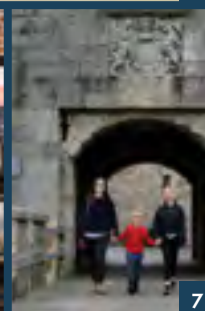

The stunning 83 metre Overlord Embroidery completes the visit. Inspired by the Bayeux Tapestry and comprising 34 hand-stitched panels, the embroidery was created to commemorate those who took part on D-Day. You can also hear veterans' personal stories as they reflect on their wartime service. The museum is open from 10am to 5pm daily. theddaystory.com

SOUTHSEA CASTLE

Henry VIII's Southsea Castle is located a short walk from The D-Day Story. Built in 1544, the castle is reportedly from where Henry VIII watched the sinking of his favourite ship the Mary Rose. A buoy marks the wreck location and is viewable from the castle ramparts.

Visit the castle keep and discover more about the fortification's fascinating history, stop for a bite to eat at The Courtyard restaurant and climb the stone steps to walk around the ramparts to take in the expansive city and sea views.

The castle is fully open to visitors from April to October, while The Courtyard restaurant is open all year. southseacastle.co.uk

Exploria

The beautiful seafront offers miles of beach and seafront promenade to explore, with the designated bathing area being to the east of South Parade Pier.

You are spoilt for choice with not one but two seafront piers. Clarence Pier to the west is home to a funfair, indoor Pitch and Putt, adventure Mini Golf, arcade games and much more. Further along the seafront to the east is the majestic South Parade Pier, home to arcade games, family activities and great food options – including fish and chips. Take a stroll onto the pier and enjoy the amazing views across the Solent to the Isle of Wight. The pier also comes to life in the evening with regular entertainment in The Gaiety.

Just across the road from here is Canoe Lake and Portsmouth's Natural History Museum. This small, free museum includes the A-Z of Natural History exhibition, plus geology and wildlife habitat displays, a working beehive and a seasonal butterfly house.

In the garden behind the museum you will find a wooden sculpture of a bumblebee forming part of a bench. This is one of five wildlife sculptures to discover in and around Canoe Lake.

Nearby, constructed on the site of the ancient Lumps Fort, is Southsea Model Village – a 1/12 scale miniature world including G scale railway featuring Thomas and friends.

If you are looking for great indoor play to keep the children active and entertained, Exploria at Portsmouth Pyramids Centre is ideal. Discover extreme fun across three connected worlds, with areas for juniors, toddlers and babies alike. Activities include a ninja run, slides, ball pit and Little Tykes' car track.

For something truly exhilarating try one of the Hovercraft Experience Flights, leaving from Southsea beach throughout the year.

For visitors with disabilities Wet Wheels Solent provides power boat experiences for all.

There is more of the natural world to discover at Blue Reef Aquarium situated between Clarence Pier and The D-Day Story. The Solent Seas, Tropical Treasures and Freshwater Fun displays have a range of animals to view, including axolotls, clown fish, eels, snapping turtles, seahorses, stingrays, porcupine pufferfish and red bellied piranha. There is also an outdoor splash pool play area for sunnier days.

With major coastal defence works taking place in 2025 a large section of the seafront road will be closed. The best parking for Blue Reef Aquarium is the D-Day car park which is just a few minutes' walk away. You can still easily access the area from the west by foot along an all-weather path on Southsea Common.

WHAT'S ON IN 2025

UK Pride, June

© Gale Photography

Portsmouth has a packed calendar of year-round events. The city hosts everything from breathtaking theatre productions to huge music festivals, free family activities and loads more besides. For the most up-to-date listings of everything going on head to visitportsmouth.co.uk – or here are just some of the event highlights this year.

JANUARY – FEBRUARY

The year kicks off with a decidedly literary slant. We'll be marking the birth of Charles Dickens on 7 February at the home in which he was born – which is today a museum. Then it's the turn of Portsmouth BookFest, bringing a host of authors to locations across the city for talks, workshops and readings.

MARCH – APRIL

There will be some egg-cellent family activities at many Portsmouth attractions over the Easter holidays. You can egg-spect craft activities, trails, and plenty more besides. April also sees the return of the South's premier metal music event, Takedown Festival at Portsmouth Guildhall.

MAY – JUNE

The festivities continue in early May with Portsmouth Comic Con. The international festival of comics welcomes world famous actors, writers and cartoonists. Later, Portsmouth takes centre stage as the location of UK Pride 2025. A huge party is planned for the occasion. The city will also host a number of events to mark the 80th anniversary of VE Day in May.

Sail GP, July

Victorious Festival, August

Look Up Portsmouth, September

JULY – AUGUST

Summer brings with it not one but two major sailing events, in the form of Sail GP and The Ocean Race – both of which will offer fantastic opportunities for spectators, as well as ways to get involved with the sport. There will also be the return of Portsmouth International Kite Festival on Southsea Common and classical music events on Guildhall Square. Plus, don't forget the incredible Victorious Festival over the August Bank Holiday weekend.

Great South Run, October

International Kite Festival, July

SEPTEMBER – OCTOBER

The summer may draw to a close but the events certainly do not. In September Look Up Portsmouth celebrates all things street art, where you can watch national and international artists create new works live. Or how about going behind the scenes for free tours as part of Heritage Open Days? There's also Games Fest at Portsmouth Guildhall and the hugely popular Great South Run – the world's premier 10-mile running event.

NOVEMBER – DECEMBER

As the year concludes, Portsmouth explodes into colour with firework displays and Christmas Light Switch On parties. The festivities continue with a whole host of pantomime performances at the city's numerous theatres, as well as many Christmas Markets for you to grab that perfect gift. You can also get your skates on as Portsmouth On Ice returns to Guildhall Square.

COASTAL CULTURE

Portsmouth most certainly knows its arts from its elbow. The city is home to not one but two Matcham theatres, as well as the fantastic Guildhall, multiple art galleries and iconic music venues.

Theatre-goers really are spoilt for choice in Portsmouth. There's the Kings Theatre in Southsea (a 1,400-capacity room in a stunning Grade II-listed building) and the New Theatre Royal in the city centre (with 656 seats, as well as the Minghella Studio and Coffee Bar). Both were designed in part by the eminent architect Frank Matcham, whose name is synonymous with beautiful and functional theatres that are equally as stunning as anything you'll witness on stage.

Both venues welcome touring drama and comedy shows all year round, whilst also putting on events for the local community and working with regional theatre groups.

In 2025 the Kings Theatre's programme will include award-winning musical Bat Out of Hell, Strictly stars Dianne and Vito, and the return of Broadway smash hit Six.

Meanwhile, at the New Theatre Royal there's the chance to see renowned author Kate Mosse, TV funnyman Chris McCausland and everyone's favourite villain Craig Revel Horwood.

That's not all, as the smaller Groundlings Theatre hosts touring shows, amateur productions, live music and more inside its converted Georgian schoolhouse near Portsmouth Historic Dockyard and Gunwharf Quays.

The city's largest venue is Portsmouth Guildhall – which hosts the biggest names in music and comedy. In fact, it has welcomed luminaries such as The Beatles, Led Zeppelin, Jimi Hendrix, U2, Arctic Monkeys, Elton John and countless others over the years. It was also where Pink Floyd gave their seminal album Dark Side of the Moon its full live debut.

Over 2025 the Guildhall will host performances by Greg Davies, James Martin, Mo Gilligan, Anastacia and Riverdance, as well as a full programme of classical music and a host of smaller shows from up-and-coming acts in the Lens Studio.

On Albert Road you'll find a truly iconic music venue in the Wedgewood Rooms. Having survived when so many other independent grass-roots venues have closed down, 'The Wedge' is known throughout the land for putting on shows by bands, artists and comedians on the up. In fact, it hosted Oasis, The Killers and Muse before they hit the stratosphere, not to mention bands that would go on to headline Victorious Festival – among them Kasabian, Biffy Clyro and Jamie T.

There are artists of a different kind frequenting Aspex – a contemporary art gallery located within the Gunwharf Quays complex. Here you can see work from the cutting edge of modern, boundary-pushing art – with many of those featured previously having since gone on to achieve great success.

As well as its creative programme of installations, the gallery also hosts regular events for families, craft workshops, and activities for those with dementia. Entry is free and there's also a popular café on site.

Just a short walk from Aspex you'll find the Hotwalls Studios. Built into centuries-old fortifications lining the seafront are 14 modern artist studios, where designer makers create and sell their wares, host workshops and take commissions. There's also a regular market where you can talk to the resident artists to find out more about their work. The line up of residents change as the artists find success and move to their own premises, but the current crop includes fine artists, ceramicists, potters, jewellers and even a taxidermist.

There are brand new galleries open at Portsmouth Museum and Art Gallery – offering you the chance to see pieces from the extensive civic collection, as well as items on loan from national galleries. This free museum also includes a range of displays showcasing moments in Portsmouth's history.

From shopping with small businesses to trying out experiences you cannot get anywhere else, there are huge rewards to be had for embracing indie Portsmouth. Thankfully, there's much to choose from in a city that's proud of its independent streak.

To begin, why not shop local? Not only will you help out a small business, it's also your opportunity to take home something not readily available on any copy-and-paste high street up and down the land. Whether it's clothing from Strong Island or some quality spirits from the Portsmouth Distillery, there's no shortage of places to pick up something unique.

In Southsea you're spoilt for choice. A walk along Castle Road, Marmion Road or Albert Road will bring you to independent bookshops, record stores, homeware manufacturers and plenty more besides.

Castle Road is a particular favourite, with many much-loved indie businesses packed into a relatively small area. There's Pie & Vinyl, serving up hot meals and the coolest new releases, Brocante, which specialises in quality antiques, and Artypotz, where you can design your own ceramics to take home. Food and drink is covered by (among others) bar/bistro Delaneys and beloved pub The Barley Mow.

A short walk will bring you to Marmion Road – where there are independent shops selling furniture, homewares, vintage clothing, gifts, cosmetics, jewellery and more. There's also the Southsea Local, offering food and drink from small, local manufacturers.

Over on Elm Grove you'll find the Southsea Deli where, as well as picking up food to take away, you can also attend masterclasses to learn how to make artisan bread, pies, street food and more. Then, just a little way along the road is the famed Bread Addiction – though it's worth getting there early as the much-loved sourdough loaves and sweet pastries often sell out.

For a real treat get yourself a bottle or two from the Portsmouth Distillery Co. Based out of an old fort, the distillery makes truly incredible rum and gin – and the wonderful surrounds are often used for music and comedy nights.

Craft beer lovers are well catered for with a selection of breweries to try out. Urban Island is located in Hilsea and serves a great selection of its own ales from a tap house at the top of Portsea Island. Or, near Fratton Park you'll find Staggeringly Good – its IPAs being particularly popular – whilst the Southsea Brewing Co that started out of Southsea Castle now has its own pub in Eastney.

Slightly newer on the scene are MakeMake off the Eastern Road (bringing real ingenuity and originality to its brews), and Powder Monkey, based in Priddy's Hard over the water in Gosport.

Each of these offer the chance to drink in at the on-site taprooms, or you can take bottles, cans and mini kegs away to enjoy at home.

Wine more your thing? Wines By The Sea has a great selection that you won't find in the supermarket, as well as expert information readily available for you to find your next favourite. There's also a top selection (including some real left-field options) at Crushed & Cured. If you've an hour to spend, drop in for a cheese and wine flight, or pick up some quality charcuterie. You may also be able to book onto a tasting night, replete with expert advice and insight.

The independent shopping continues at Portsmouth's many markets – find out more about these on page 27.

LITERARY LEGACY

It was within the city that Charles Dickens, perhaps the most celebrated Victorian author, was born. The Dickens family moved to Portsmouth for his father's work in the Royal Navy, making a home on what is now Old Commercial Road. Today, this humble terraced house is a museum to celebrate Dickens' life, being decorated in the styles favoured at the time and displaying some of his personal possessions.

You can visit the museum on select open days throughout the year, or make a special journey for Dickens' birthday on 7 February, when it opens for free to all and has a small ceremony – often featuring some of his direct descendants.

Another literary icon to have come out of Portsmouth is Sherlock Holmes. Whilst working as a doctor in the city, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle devised the character that would go on to become famous around the world. His 'consulting detective' may have an address on London's Baker Street, but he was made in Portsmouth.

This wasn't Doyle's only impression on the city, however. A keen sportsman, he also played in goal for Portsmouth AFC – making 76 appearances.

The author's links with the city are remembered at Portsmouth Museum and Art Gallery, in which some of the items from the world's largest collection of Conan Doyle memorabilia are displayed. These include various Holmes books and paraphernalia, as well as the personal artefacts of Doyle himself. The exhibition – like the museum itself – is free to visit.

Other eminent writers to have lived in Portsmouth at one point in their lives include HG Wells (who took a job as a draper's assistant but left for London citing the 'drudgery' of the job), and Rudyard Kipling, whose parents sent him to the UK from India for schooling. He lived in Southsea with his sister Trix for six years – at a home where a blue plaque now bears his name.

More recently Portsmouth has been home to Michelle Magorian, the writer behind Goodnight Mister Tom and Just Henry.

These literary connections are being celebrated keenly this year, with local arts and culture collective Portsmouth Creates designating 2025 as its Year of Literature and Literacy. There will be a host of events and celebrations, to not only honour the famed authors who have lived or worked in the city, but also boost literacy levels and foster the next generation of best-sellers.

This will be in addition to the regular Portsmouth BookFest event, which takes place every February and March. It welcomes renowned celebrities and writers to the city's libraries and other venues for talks, workshops and readings.

Keep an eye on the Visit Portsmouth website for all the details on literary-themed events taking place over the year ahead.

MORE SHOPS TO EXPLORE

In addition to the amazing variety that Gunwharf Quays offers across its 90+ brands (see pages 8-9), Portsmouth is also home to a selection of high street names, independent shops, and year-round markets.

Cascades shopping centre and Commercial Road in the city centre offer a wide range of well-known brands that you would expect to find in a British high street. Bag a bargain in TKMaxx (along with that gift for yourself that you didn't know you needed) and pick up the latest fashion in nearby Next, H&M or River Island.

Check out the latest footwear styles, treat yourself to a range of beauty products or buy a gift of jewellery for that special someone.

There is a good mix of places to enjoy a bite to eat too. Browse the reading matter in Waterstones while relaxing in their in-house café or grab a takeaway and stroll to Victoria Park, a haven of quiet for a picnic break from all the retail therapy.

In Southsea you will find a mix of big brands and independent and vintage stores across Palmerston Road, Marmion Road, Castle Road and Albert Road. Find out more on pages 22-23.

At Port Solent you can browse the waterfront shops while checking out the yachts in the marina, the perfect place for a pit-stop with a choice of places to eat and drink.

Portsmouth also has several retail parks that are home to larger stores and supermarkets. These include Ocean Retail Park, North Harbour and the Pompey Centre.

PIECING TOGETHER THE PAST

From the arrival of iconic ships to turning points in global wars – and even a royal wedding – Portsmouth has seen it all. Ours may be a relatively small island, but it's rich in history.

Old Portsmouth is, as the name suggests, one of the city's oldest developed areas. However, even though it's home to some historic fortifications (among them the Round Tower which has stood in one form or another since 1418), the Old Portsmouth of today is also where you'll find popular pubs, well-rated restaurants and modern artist studios.

Standing tall over Old Portsmouth is the Cathedral of St Thomas – located on the site of the original chapel that was dedicated back in 1188. Formally a cathedral since 1927, it's now a popular spot not just for the regular services but also year-round events – everything from markets to live music performances and art exhibitions.

The nearby Royal Garrison Church is also rich in history, being the location of Charles II's marriage to Catherine of Braganza. Originally a hospice (back in 1212) the building has since been used as a church and armoury. What's most striking about the building is that it has no roof over the nave – a result of The Blitz – which makes it a popular subject for photographers.

You can take in all this history (and more) with a walk along the Millennium Promenade, which starts at Portsmouth Historic Dockyard and runs all the way to Southsea Castle. The route is clearly signposted, either by plaques along the route or through the chain link motif set into the pavement throughout Old Portsmouth.

Discover much more with the series of information boards lining the route, each giving an insight into the area, its buildings and the notable people who have left their mark. A guide to the Millennium Promenade is available from the Visitor Information Points, or digitally on the Visit Portsmouth website.

All that exploring is sure to work up an appetite; thankfully there are some great pubs and restaurants on offer in Old Portsmouth. Near the area known as The Point you have the ever-popular triumvirate of the Still & West, Spice Island Inn and the Bridge Tavern, each located right along the water's edge and offering wonderful views of the local area. Plus on High Street you have The Dolphin – which is believed to be the city's oldest pub still in operation (established 1716) – with self-styled 'proper pub' The Pembroke just around the corner.

For restaurants, Abarbistro has won countless people over with its quality international menu, whilst back on High Street is Florio's Italian, as well as Smoke & Mirrors for modern fine dining. Alternatively, if you're in self-catering accommodation you may want to treat yourself to the freshest seafood to take away from Fish Portsmouth right on the Camber Docks.

Head north of the city and you'll find Fort Nelson. Located atop Portsdown Hill with stunning views of Portsmouth and the surrounding areas, this Victorian fort is now home to some prize items from the Royal Armouries' collection – including a 15th-century Turkish bombard cannon, a gigantic 200-tonne railway howitzer, and the infamous 'Big Babylon' Iraqi supergun.

In addition to the armoury collection, Fort Nelson also has tunnels, ramparts and a parade ground to explore, across a site measuring some 19 acres.

A short hop from Fort Nelson is the magnificent Portchester Castle – the best-preserved Norman Fort in northern Europe. Thought to have been built between AD 285 and AD 290, the castle has gone through many different uses. It was where medieval kings gathered their forces before crossing the Channel (the most famous being Henry V who, in 1415, launched the invasion of France that culminated in his triumph at Agincourt), was a prisoner of war camp as far back as 1665, and more recently was a pleasure garden. Today it's a popular tourist attraction managed by English Heritage.

Elsewhere in Portsmouth you can take in the elegant Boulton & Watt steam engines that brought sanitation to residents during the Victorian era at Eastney Engine Houses, or walk around the very home in which renowned author Charles Dickens was born.

All this heritage and that's even without Portsmouth Historic Dockyard – which is covered in detail on pages 6-7. And don't forget, you can get free entry into Portsmouth Historic Quarter at the dockyard – where you can explore the displays at Boathouse 4 (and take a harbour tour from the pontoon), step into the world of navy workers at The Dockyard Apprentice in Boathouse 7, or enjoy some downtime at Porter's Garden and Mast Pond. Simply ask for a Historic Quarter Pass at the dockyard ticket office.

THE GREAT OUTDOORS

A trip to the coast wouldn't be complete without getting some fresh sea air. On your next trip to Portsmouth, make sure you allow some time in your itinerary to explore the great outdoors.

What better place is there to start than at the seafront? With the Portsmouth section of England's Coastal Path now complete, you have plenty of choice (though please note that ongoing sea defence works may impact access to certain areas over the coming years).

The newly opened walkway along the seafront side of Blue Reef Aquarium and Southsea Castle is an ideal starting point. Here you can enjoy a scenic walk or rest for a while at the 'Theatre of the Sea' – a vantage point at Portsea Island's most southerly point that's perfect for watching the comings and goings of the Solent.

From here, head eastwards past South Parade Pier and you'll reach the large and open beaches of Southsea and Eastney. With plenty of scope to spread out, this area always has space even during the busiest of summer days.

The coast at Portsea Island's eastern edge provides quieter walking routes. If you want to get away from some of the busier tourist spots, this is the place to go. It's also a must for wildlife spotters, with the adjoining Langstone Harbour and Farlington Marshes designated as Sites of Special Scientific Interest. Species to be seen here include avocets, redshanks, dunlins, short-eared owls, redstarts, spotted flycatchers, wheatears, reed warblers, sedge warblers, lapwings and more.

Of course, though the coastline may be most people's first port of call for time spent outdoors, that's far from all there is to enjoy.

Portsmouth has plenty of green space. Most notable of them all is Southsea Common, taking up a huge area right along Southsea seafront from Clarence Pier to the Pyramids Centre. The open grassland covers around 75 acres and is a popular space for playing ball games and flying kites, or for dining al fresco in the designated barbecue areas. Visitors bringing their dogs will also find plenty of space for off-lead walks.

There's also much sporting action to be had, with the common area also being the location of the iconic Southsea Skatepark, as well as beach volleyball courts and Southsea Tennis Club (which offers six hard courts on a pay-and-play basis). Youngsters will be well catered for, with Southsea Splash Pool nearby and a large play park near the Hovertravel terminal.

Another popular green space is the area around Canoe Lake, which also has tennis courts open to the public, not to mention the beautiful Rose Gardens, peaceful Japanese Garden, two cafés, splash park, play park and Model Village.

Over at the city centre you'll find Victoria Park, which has been at the heart of Portsmouth for more than 140 years. It contains nine monuments, a historic fountain, an aviary for birds and mammals, a relaxing café and an accessible play park.

It's a more rugged affair at Milton Common – a mixture of natural grassland, scrub and ponds. Take a walk along the network of paths criss-crossing the common, passing the three lakes that provide a home for insects, mammals and birds. Depending on the time of year you could see swallows, swifts, house martins, moorhen, tufted ducks, foxes, owls and kestrels.

SPORT BY THE SEA

Portsmouth has a proud sporting heritage – both on land and sea – making it the perfect place to stay active, try a new activity or simply enjoy watching one of the city's larger sporting events taking place right across the year.

In 2025 Portsmouth will proudly host two major sailing events – Sail GP in July and The Ocean Race in August.

Along with Pretty Muddy and Race for Life in July, the major running event in the calendar is the Great South Run in October – known as one of the world's best ten-mile races. We can't forget football and Fratton Park, of course. Why not catch a Pompey men's or women's home game during your visit to the city?

As the UK's only island city, Portsmouth has a wide range of water-based activities on offer and has three marinas: Gunwharf Quays, Port Solent and Southsea Marina.

The Andrew Simpson Centre is the first port of call for any enthusiast, with courses and access to water-based activities including sailing, rowing, powerboating, kayaking, canoeing and paddle-boarding. The centre also houses a 13 metre outdoor climbing tower; one for the brave!

Or try out wakeboarding at the South Coast Wakepark, equipped with a premier cable wake system and offering a wide range of equipment and hire gear suitable for all abilities, from beginners to experienced wakeboarders.

For runners the seafront in Southsea is perfect, with amazing views across the Solent to the Isle of Wight. If you prefer to run with company, join one of the regular organised weekend runs that take place across the city. The seafront is also home to adventure mini golf, pitch 'n' putt, play parks and beach volleyball courts to keep you entertained.

indoor and six outdoor courts. The city also has the Tennis Academy in Burnaby Road, Southsea Tennis Club on the seafront and Court X at Canoe Lake, with a tennis pavilion, four top-specification artificial grass courts and newly refurbished grass and hard courts.

The University of Portsmouth's Ravelin Park Sports Centre includes an eight-court sports hall, eight-lane 25 metre swimming pool, 175-station fitness suite, multipurpose studios, squash courts, a climbing and bouldering wall, and a ski simulator. One of the UK's most sustainable sports centres, Ravelin Park has pay-as-you-go options for city visitors.

In the north of the city Hilsea Lido is undergoing a major renovation project and is set to open in 2025 in line with its 90th anniversary, offering outdoor swimming. Check for opening updates on visitportsmouth.co.uk

On Portsdown Hill are the Peter Ashley Activity Centres, located in the historic environments of Fort Purbrook and Fort Widley. Activities to pre-book include horse riding, archery, bushcraft, mountain biking, climbing, orienteering, rifle shooting and laser tag. Book a family adventure day and learn a new skill.

Portsmouth has not one but two 18-hole golf courses – Portsmouth Golf Centre and Portsmouth Golf Course. Both are available for pay and play, offering outstanding views and affordable sessions on great courses.

The iconic Southsea Skatepark is home to international-standard ramps, or check out Pitt Street, an undercover skatepark in the city centre. In winter you can venture onto the ice at the seasonal city ice rink in front of the majestic Portsmouth Guildhall.

Sport Centres

BH Live Active offers two facilities in Portsmouth. The Pyramids has high-quality fitness facilities including a cardio zone, free weights, functional fitness, group cycle and PULSE studios. Fitness classes include Les Mills, yoga, group cycling, and much more. These are available to members and on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The Mountbatten Centre in the north of the city is home to an Olympic-sized pool, teaching pool, spa, 150-station state-of-the-art gym, health suite, eight-court sports hall, squash courts, athletics and cycle tracks, and a great programme of activities and events.

Next door to the Mountbatten Centre is Portsmouth Tennis Centre with four

EVERY FOODIE'S PARADISE

Indulge in some of the best food and drink available on your next trip to Portsmouth, where there's a wealth of options to sample – from bustling marketplaces to local producers and incredible award-winning restaurants.

An island city will, of course, have a great seafood offer, and Portsmouth is no exception. At the Camber Docks you'll find Fish Portsmouth, a market selling everything from Dover sole to plaice, brill, turbot, cod, cuttlefish, black bream, sea bass, whelks and scallops. The company operates its own fleet to land each day's catch within hours of capture, guaranteeing fish of the highest quality.

Alternatively, take a short walk to The Briny which specialises in freshly prepared seafood, sourced locally wherever possible. Watch dishes being prepared by expert chefs at the open kitchen, then enjoy food that has earned the restaurant an elusive AA Rosette Award for culinary excellence.

Other award-winning restaurants include Natty's Jerk Chicken and the King Street Tavern – both located near Portsmouth city centre.

Natty's has seen enormous growth in recent years – not just in size but popularity as well – for its top-notch Caribbean cuisine. Head to the city centre Jerk Shack to enjoy quality, authentic jerk dishes, as well as a vibrant, joyful and inclusive atmosphere. It's no surprise that Natty's has been selected to represent the entire South East at the Uber Eats Restaurant of the Year Awards for two years running.

Meanwhile, the King Street Tavern offers a low-and-slow BBQ smokehouse menu featuring all the classics (brisket, ribs and pulled pork – to name but a few). Accompanying the BBQ menu is a selection of top ales and ciders – many of which have been sourced locally. Having a Good Food Award is an achievement all in itself – the King Street Tavern has won so many it has been handed a rare Gold Seal.

Portsmouth isn't just a place for carnivores, of course! On Palmerston Road you'll find Mangosteen – with its motto: 'Where veganism and vegetarianism is more about indulgence than abstinence'. As that suggests, on the menu you'll find plant-based treats from around the world, everything from delicious burgers to curries and pasta.

Or how about Offbeet on Albert Road, which offers innovative plant-based cuisine free from ultra-processed ingredients. Innovation really is the key word, with a menu that will astound even before the food comes out! It's an ever-changing offer so be sure to take a look at what's available ahead of your next visit.

As well as some of the local favourites you'll also find all your familiar big-name places. Gunwharf Quays is home to 30 bars and restaurants offering world-spanning cuisine. From All Bar One to Zizzi (and everything in-between), there's a whole host of selections to suit every taste and budget.

Alternatively, head up to Port Solent where you can enjoy food with a view at the many bars and restaurants located right along its picturesque marina. There's plenty of choice, with restaurants serving up Indian, Thai, Italian, Spanish and Brazilian food, as well as cafés for a daytime hot drink and sweet treat.

With an array of shops, as well as an Odeon Cinema, free parking and the stunning marina, there's much to explore at Port Solent before or after your meal, too.

A SHORT BREAK

There's way too much to fit into a day trip to Portsmouth. Instead, why not make a weekend of it, so you can experience all the top things to see and do in the great waterfront city.

Day 1 – Arrive and astound

After you've arrived in Portsmouth and settled into your accommodation the holiday can properly begin – and what better place to start than at Spinnaker Tower? From its View Decks over 100 metres above sea level, you can enjoy stunning views out across the Portsmouth cityscape (as well as the Solent, Isle of Wight, South Downs and more), to get a feel for where you're headed over the coming days. Want a spot of luxury? Combine your visit with a very high tea at The Clouds, or drink in the view by night over a fresh cocktail at the Sky Bar.

Once back onto terra firma you'll find yourself in Gunwharf Quays, the waterfront outlet centre that offers 90+ designer brands (with up to 60% off RRP), as well as more than 30 cafés, bars and restaurants – many of which are located right along the water's edge. Grab a big-name bargain or treat yourself to an evening meal with stunning views as the sun sets on Portsmouth Harbour. If you want to extend your evening there's a multiplex cinema, bowling alley and casino, as well as the many bars that are open into the small hours.

Day 2 – History and heritage

There's a full day of exploring to enjoy, and you're going to need it! Today it's the turn of Portsmouth Historic Dockyard, where a whole host of world-class attractions await.

There are few better places to explore Portsmouth's long and storied past than at the Historic Dockyard. Grab an Ultimate Explorer ticket for entry to all attractions – which also lets you return for unlimited visits for a whole year. Climb on board the stunning HMS Warrior (a warship so powerful it was said to have made all others obsolete on the day it launched); view Henry VIII's beloved Mary Rose and the artefacts that lay on the seabed for over 400 years; and see the awe-inspiring work that is going into maintaining HMS Victory for many more years to come.

You may also be able to catch a glimpse of the Royal Navy's current crop of vessels on a harbour tour – also included with your Ultimate Explorer ticket.

Once you've finished at the dockyard (or, more likely, left things to catch on a future visit), head across to Southsea where there's even more to discover.

The D-Day Story is the UK's only museum dedicated solely to the Normandy landings of 1944. Using personal testimonies from those involved in the operation, it tells individual stories of what happened on the momentous day of 6 June that helped turn the tide of the Second World War. Artefacts on display range from the tiny (a pencil that signed off the invasion) to the huge (LCT 7074, a surviving Landing Craft from D-Day).

A literal stone's throw from The D-Day Story is Southsea Castle, a historic fortification at Portsea Island's most southerly tip. The castle was reportedly built with guidance from Henry VIII himself, and the infamous king was present during the Battle of the Solent to see the Mary Rose sink to the bottom of the sea. Today the castle is a visitor attraction offering a museum in the keep, as well as a restaurant (The Courtyard), gift shop and wonderful views from the ramparts.

All that exploring is sure to have worked up an appetite. A short walk through Southsea Common will bring you to a host of independent pubs, bars and restaurants, so you'll certainly find something that appeals. Stay the night enjoying some local hospitality, or head to one of the city's famed venues for a live show – whether that's touring productions at the New Theatre Royal and Kings Theatre, big-name acts at Portsmouth Guildhall or the best up-and-coming bands at the Wedgewood Rooms.

Day 3 – Seafronts and send-offs

Before setting off why not get a last bit of fresh sea air? At Old Portsmouth you can soak up some sun at the Hotwalls beach then enjoy coastal views from atop centuries old fortifications (following the Millennium Promenade trail, with its information panels detailing the area's fascinating history). Along Southsea seafront, meanwhile, there are equally stunning views to admire from the 'Theatre of the Sea' built into the new coastal defences, and the chance to visit not one but two piers.

Southsea Common is adjacent to the seafront; this vast expanse of open green space provides an ideal location for a run around, some ball games or a lovely picnic – all to set you up for the journey home when you can start planning your next trip to Portsmouth!

STAY A LITTLE LONGER

Portsmouth has a great variety of accommodation, with options to suit a range of budgets. Included in this guide we showcase a taster of what is on offer, find out more at visitportsmouth.co.uk/accommodation

The majestic Queens Hotel stands on the edge of Southsea Common just a few minutes' walk from the beach. The hotel offers quality rooms including some with sea views and is a great choice for afternoon tea, a relaxing dinner, or an evening with cocktails. The hotel garden is perfect for a drink or al fresco dining and has regular outdoor entertainment.

The Holiday Inn is also located in a prime position close to the seafront in Southsea and offers a range of accommodation along with a restaurant and bar plus on-site gym, indoor pool, steam room and sauna. Children under 17 can stay free when sharing a room with adults, so it's ideal for a family break.

At Gunwharf Quays the Holiday Inn Express is located amongst a great range of restaurants and nightlife and a short walk from Spinnaker Tower, Portsmouth Historic Dockyard and Portsmouth Harbour train station.

The Royal Maritime Hotel is close to the historic ships, Gunwharf Quays and Spinnaker Tower. The hotel offers comfortable and welcoming rooms accompanied by a delicious full English breakfast! The on-site restaurant Horatio's is open to all.

In the centre of Portsmouth the Ibis Hotel offers a great base from which to explore the city and is just a stone's throw from Portsmouth Guildhall, New Theatre Royal and Portsmouth and Southsea train station. Along with cozy bedrooms the hotel has a 24-hour snack menu, on-site parking and a stylish restaurant.

To the north of the city the trendy Village Hotel has everything you need for a great stay including a pool, gym, pub and grill with great food, a Starbucks coffee shop and VWorks co-working space. The Village is located in a quiet area just off the M27, a couple of miles from the city centre.
